NEWSLETTER Sept 2012

Get creative with household objects

Children learn through play and discover the hidden qualities of everyday household and industrial objects by exploring Anne Thalheim's work. Create a temporary bright and intricate structure using symmetry, repetition and colour co-ordination.

- Available 25th August – 10th November
- Suitable for KS1 and KS2
- Can link to specific classroom subjects
- Half day workshop at 20-21, including exhibition tour £70
- Half day outreach £112

This workshop will be adapted in the spring term to compliment the Jason Taylor "Everyday Objects" exhibition.

Our New Education Officer

We have appointed a new Education Officer at 20-21. Hayley McPhun has developed the new education offer for schools, including a new sculpture tour, a core offer and exhibition specific workshops. Many of which can be adapted to suit classroom topics.

For more information on what the new education offer includes, please contact Hayley on:

01724 297074 or hayley.mcphun@northlincs.gov.uk

Stay in touch!

We have started a blog! To keep up-to-date with our Education workshops and goings on, please log on to www.educationat2021.blogspot.co.uk

We are welcoming input from IT savvy schools who have their own blogs, get in touch with Hayley, if you'd like to be a contributor!

All Things Bright and Beautiful

Be inspired by the beauty our exhibition "All Things Bright and Beautiful". Children will create their own bug book by exploring the themes of the exhibition, through creative writing, crafting and simple book-binding.

- Available 22nd September – 5th January
- Suitable for KS1 and KS2
- Can link to specific classroom subjects.
- Half day workshop £70
- Half day outreach £112

Please note, prices vary for schools out of area.
